

Amendments To The Claims

This listing of claims will replace all prior versions, and listings, of claims in the application:

Listing of Claims:

1. (Currently Amended) A method for displaying a televised event, the televised event includes at least two competing parties wherein each party has a uniform that is visually distinguished in respect to the uniform of any other party of said at least two parties; the televised event including a score indication with score portion for each party; the method comprising:

receiving a processed televised event and displaying on a display ~~device~~device, at least one of the score indication portions ~~is being~~ colored so as to facilitate visual association of the score indication portion to a respective party according to the color of the uniform of said party, ~~irrespective of the color or colors of said uniform~~wherein the score indication consists of one of the following:

a pattern of two colors identifying the uniform of each of the parties and applied to letters identifying the name of each party;

a respective color applied to only the initials of the name of each party; and a respective color applied only to the score numbers of the score indication associated with the parties.

2. (Original) The method according to Claim 1,
wherein said event being a sport event.

3. (Original) The method according to Claim 2, wherein said sport event includes two parties each being a team of players.

4. (Previously presented) The method according to Claim 3, wherein said sport event being any one of soccer, American football, basketball, Rugby and volleyball.

5. (Previously presented) The method according to claim 1, wherein score indication portions are colored each in an identical color as the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.

6. (Previously presented) The method according to claim 1, wherein score indication portions are colored each in non identical color as that of the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.

7. (Currently Amended) A method for preparing for displaying a televised event, the televised event includes at least two competing parties wherein each party has a uniform that is visually distinguished in respect of the uniform of any other party of said at least two parties; the televised event includes a score indication with score portion for each party; the method comprising:

processing the televised event for display on a display ~~device, device,~~ the processing included: coloring at least one score indication portion so as to facilitate visual association of score indication portion to a respective party according to the color of the uniform of said party, ~~irrespective of the color or colors of said uniform~~wherein the score indication consists of one of the following:

a pattern of two colors identifying the uniform of each of the parties and applied to letters identifying the name of each party;

a respective color applied to only the initials of the name of each party; and

a respective color applied only to the score numbers of the score indication associated with the parties.

8. (Original) The method according to Claim 7, wherein said event being a sport event.

9. (Original) The method according to Claim 8, wherein said sport event includes two parties each being a team of players.

10. (Previously presented) The method according to Claim 9, wherein said sport event being anyone of soccer, American football, basketball, Rugby and volleyball.

11. (Previously presented) The method according to Claim 7, wherein score indication portions are colored each in an identical color as the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.

12. (Previously presented) The method according to claim 6, wherein score indication portions are colored each in non identical color as that of the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.

13. (Currently Amended) A method for displaying a televised event, the televised event includes at least two competing parties wherein each party has a uniform that is visually distinguished in respect of the uniform of any other party of said at least two parties; the televised event includes a score indication with score portion for each party; the score portion includes, each, score components; the method comprising: receiving a processed televised event for display on a display device; at least one of said score components is colored so as to facilitate visual association of the score indication portion to a respective party according to the color of the uniform of said party, ~~irrespective of the color or colors of said uniform~~ wherein the score indication consists of one of the following:

a pattern of two colors identifying the uniform of each of the parties and applied to letters identifying the name of each party;

a respective color applied to only the initials of the name of each party; and

a respective color applied only to the score numbers of the score indication associated with the parties.

14. (Original) The method according to Claim 13, wherein said score portion includes the party name and the score value component being either a letter or a font that constitute the score portion.

15. (Previously presented) The method according to claim 13, wherein said event being a sport event.

16. (Original) The method according to Claim 15, wherein said sport event includes two parties each being a team of players.

17. (Original) The method according to Claim 16, wherein said sport event being anyone of soccer, American football, basketball, baseball, Rugby and volleyball.

18. (Currently Amended) The method according to claim 13, wherein at least one of said score components is colored in an identical color as the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.

19. (Currently Amended) The method according to claim 13, wherein at least one of said score components is colored in a non identical color as the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.

20. (Currently Amended) A method for displaying a televised event, the televised event includes at least two competing parties wherein each party has a uniform that is visually distinguished in respect of the uniform of any other party of said at least two parties; the televised event includes a score indication with score portion for each party; the score portion includes, each, score components; the method comprising: processing the televised event for display on a display device; the processing included: coloring at least one of said score components so as to facilitate visual association of each score indication portion to a respective party according to the color of the uniform of said party, ~~irrespective of the color or colors of said uniform~~ wherein the score indication consists of one of the following:

a pattern of two colors identifying the uniform of each of the parties and applied to letters identifying the name of each party;

a respective color applied to only the initials of the name of each party; and

a respective color applied only to the score numbers of the score indication associated with the parties.

21. (Original) The method according to Claim 20, wherein said score portion includes the party name and the score value component being either a letter or a font that constitute the score portion.

22. (Previously presented) The method according to claim 20, wherein said event being a sport event.

23. (Original) The method according to Claim 22, wherein said sport event includes two parties each being a team of players.

24. (Original) The method according to Claim 23, wherein said sport event being anyone of soccer, American football, basketball, baseball, Rugby and volleyball.

25. (Previously presented) The method according to claim 20, wherein at least one of said score components is colored in an identical color as the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.

26. (Previously presented) The method according to claim 20, wherein at least one of said score components is colored in a non identical color as the uniform of said respective party, facilitating visually association of each score indication portion to its respective party.